Bokamoso Ba Rona – meaning “Our Future” – is an initiative founded by Sibanye Stillwater, the Gauteng Infrastructure Finance Agency, the Far West Rand Dolomitic Water Association, and the West Rand District Municipality. This initiative aims to deploy more than 30 000 ha of privately owned land in the West Rand for intensive agriculture and agribusiness bolstering the local economy through vertically integrated, farm-to-plate operations, circular economy, high-value labour-intensive cultivation under irrigation, industrial symbiosis, resource use efficiency and innovation.

The Bokamoso Ba Rona NPC now seeks to partner with established commercial farmers and/or agribusinesses who wish to expand their current businesses to spearhead our catalytic projects.
